Report of event/ activity

Event:

Crackathon is a flagship event of CodeCell, taking place during 'Abhyantriki', the tech-fest of KJSCE. This was an online competitive programming contest, conducted in 3 stages. Participants have to qualify each level to proceed to the next one.

Round 1 and Round 2 were 30 minutes and 40 minutes long respectively, both held on day 1. This was followed by a 3 hour long Round 3, on day 2.

The answers could be submitted in any of the languages supported by HackerRank and CodeChef platforms. This contest tested the participants' logical and analytical abilities to an extreme, each round being more difficult than the previous one. The ranks were decided on the website's leaderboard itself, on the basis of the number of correct answers, time taken to solve problems and penalty for the wrong answers.

The contest drew a large number of entrants from all four years of engineering and other technical disciplines from all across Mumbai. The contest had a massive response, with almost 100 people taking part.
